How & Where To Advertise A Quick Study in Advertising & Marketing

More than anything else, the key to success in business depends on how and where you advertise. If you don't advertise you will remain unknown indefinitely. If you have "the better mousetrap," it won't mean a thing unless you let people know about it. All of your ideas, efforts, energy and investments will mean nothing if you don't advertise.

Almost everyone seems to have an idea for a product or service of some kind. Unfortunately, many people who have spent years perfecting a product or special service have ended up penniless and heartbroken because "no one beat a path to their door" to buy what they were trying to sell.

To avoid this misfortune, you should always do some basic product analysis and market research before you start investing in something you want other people to buy. Consider whether you want to become a part of history as just another failed businessperson, or if you want to enjoy the rewards that come with success. Doing some product research will save you time, frustration, and money.

To get some common sense answers, make up a check list of questions before you start any project or get too financially involved. Your check list should answer the following questions:

- 1) What is the market I will sell to?
- 2) Does the market really want, and need it?
- 3) What is the size of the market?
- 4) How will I reach my prospective market
- 5) How will I get them to buy?
- 6) Are a similar product or service being sold?
- 7) What makes my product & strategies different?
- 8) Can I supply the product at a price customers will pay, and still make a profit for myself?
- 9) How much time, effort & money will I have to invest in order to reach my profit goals?
- 10) Do I have the resources, and stamina to follow through with my idea to success?

You can start planning exactly how you will sell your item once you've answered these questions. Then you will be ready to develop your advertising strategy. Success will come to you much easier, and you stand to make greater profits, if you answer the nine questions above before you begin.

Remember, your first task is to determine who your most likely customers are, and then design your advertising campaign to reach those specific people. Generally, you wouldn't try to sell pantyhose with an ad in a woodworkers magazine; or socket wrenches with an ad in a teen girls magazine.

In other words, design your advertisements to appeal to "your kind of customer -then, place your advertisements in the publications these people buy and read. If you're selling gift items, crafts and other merchandise, advertise in those kinds of publications - general merchandise catalogs catering to that kind of buyer. If you wanting to recruit sales people, dealers and distributors, place your ads in publications that reach people who are interested in business opportunities.

It's best that you don't launch your business via direct mail to begin with. It's just to expensive. However, when you do expand into direct mail, be discriminate and select mailing lists that specifically target your customer. More specifically, do-it-yourselfers for shop tools, cosmetics buyers for jewelry and self-adornment merchandise, how-to-book buyers for your crafts, hobbies & self-improvement books, opportunity seekers for business start-up manuals, and proven advertisers for your publications.

When you read an article that says you should place your ad in a publications that carries similar ads, what they mean is that you should place your ads in publications 'reaching' your kind of buyer." Just because it's a publication reaching mail order people and you're selling imported gift items by mail, doesn't mean your ad will pull from exposure in that publication. Always ask one more question: Does this publication reach the type of buyers I'm selling to?

This is where many mail order entrepreneurs go wrong, and very definitely, this is the fallacy of advertising in the mail order ad sheets. Always Analyze the type of people a publication reaches, their loyalty, and true interests. Determining whether of not they'll respond to your ad is easy if you will just ask yourself a few common sense questions.

Where To Advertise

Mail Order Ad Sheet: These reach beginning and small mail order dealers... Their appeal is largely egotistical to see the advertiser's name/ad in print - read by other mail order dealers to see who is advertising, what's being advertised, and for the accumulation or compiling of mailing lists. Very little if any response from the recipients who are looking.

Mail Order Tab Sheets: These reach basically the same audience as the M/O Ad Sheets... Generally more appealing because of the "instructional" articles and greater space devoted to mentioning who's doing what/names in print & free publicity. Rate these according to the "information" being passed along in the articles. Usually, these publications pull a greater response than the ad sheets, but still, they're largest audience is one made up of sellers.

Mail Order Dealer Catalogs: These reach the mail order dealers, plus a very large segment of specific buyers – generally related to the overall kind of merchandise offered within the catalog. Unless there are "business building" articles, the recipients generally toss them aside after a quick glance...These are very good showcases for your dealer/distributor ads, and if it's an "established" merchandise catalog of the kind of product you're selling, these catalogs can be very good advertising outlets for you...

Extra Income Magazines, such as Money Making Magic, Venture and Entrepreneur: These publications individually reach a very loyal basic subscriber list, most of the people wanting or hoping to get started with, or already involved in a spare time extra income project, and tremendously large numbers of "first time" readers with each issue. Look for, they carry, in and rate them according to the balance of actual "business building" articles relationship to their advertising - and overall, according to the quality of the publication as well as the audience each is trying to reach - do the articles really help you, or are they "publicity write-ups" for the advertisers... You'll find that these magazines are retained, and referred to by the recipients for years... In almost every case, you can expect a good response from your ads placed in one of these magazines - provided you've got a good ad and it's geared to the readers of that particular magazine.

Remember: The bottom line is in knowing your type of buyer - presenting your product or opportunity in a style that appeals especially to that type of buyers - and then placing your ad in the publication reaching your kind of buyer... cooking magazines for recipes; mechanical opportunities in the mechanics magazines; self-improvement books and merchandise in general merchandise catalogs; and income opportunities in the business building self-help magazines such as Money Making Magic!

Besides matching the profile of your customer with the demographics of the publication, it's also important that you match your selling prices within the average price range of everything else offered in that publication. Running an ad to sell a book at $79 in a publication featuring $19 books, probably won't pull for you. By the same token, any ads attempting to promote "reproduction type" reports in a magazine selling $59 books, probably won't bring very many responses for you either.

To achieve success - know your product, profile your prospective buyer, design advertising that appeals to the self-interests of that specific kind of buyer; and place your ads in publications reaching those kinds of buyers. If you're trying to sell by direct mail, send your offers to prospective buyers – not sellers of the same type of materials you're attempting to sell.

Very few people recognize a legitimate opportunity, even when you hit them over the head with it - even so, unless you've got something REALLY NEW, and a deal that really is THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME, save your money and don't try to push your program onto other mail order dealers who may already be selling it.

Assuming that you "know" your typical customer, and the best media to reach this kind of customer, the next step is putting your ad together. It's been said millions of times before, but it's important that you UNDERSTAND, and REMEMBER: Your ad MUST appeal to the self-interest of your prospect. It must somehow be different, and better, than all the others, particularly if your product is being advertised in the same publication by other mail order dealers.

Nothing beats originality. Write your ads from a different angle. Lead off with the answer to every customer's most important question: What will I get if I send in my money?

Use words to paint pictures of success, wealth and happiness. Eliminate the customer's fears of being taken or ripped off. Picture yourself in your prospective customer's shoes, and give him real reasons to send his money to you. And finally, make it easy for him to order - call toll free; use your bank card; order now and we'll bill you later; self-addressed envelope.

Don't be too determined to sell your primary product from your ad. Chances are, if it's as good as you say it is, and you really want to make big profits, you should use a sales letter 4 or more pages in length. Consider a "leader" item, and run an ad such as this: FREE MAIL ORDER OPPORTUNITY SUCCESS GUIDE! Send your name, address, zip code & two first class stamps.

Then in response to all the takers of this Free Offer, include the complete sales letter, brochure, order form, and self-addressed return reply envelope with the booklet you send out. Using this 2 step method, some people have made millions selling their primary product.

Another angle? FREE BOOK! How To Make A Million In Mail Order Sales! Send your name, address, and zip code, along with $5 for shipping and handling. In response, you send out the book and a sales letter inviting the recipient to take advantage of your mail order business consulting services.

Again, the rules are: Determine who you want for a customer. Get his undivided attention, and then sell him your product or service. It's simple, proven, and easy! All it takes is a little bit of common sense on your part and advertising!

CHAPTER SIX

FREE STUFF ON THE WEB

Anonymous Freebies

www.myTrashMail.com

This free service offers temporary, disposable E-mail accounts that you can use to protect your privacy and also reduce the spam you receive. It's a handy service to use when you're reluctant to use your main, primary E-mail address when you're prompted to enter an E-mail address online.

www.MisterPrivacy.com

Are you looking to protect your online privacy? This is a free service that lets you surf the Web anonymously. MisterPrivacy.com also helps protect you from various online hazards, including harmful scripts, banners, cookies, Web viruses, worms, cyberstalkers, and more.

www.Anti-Spyware-Keypad.com

This free online Internet security program helps protect your data from being stolen by "keyboard monitor" spyware programs that record your keystrokes when you log into secure Web sites.

www.StealthMessage.com

Are you worried about the security of your E-mail? A free service, StealthMessage.com offers a secure messaging system that encrypts your private messages and stores encrypted messages anonymously. The service is easy to use and there's nothing to download.

BUSINESS FREEBIES

www.AllFreelanceWork.com

Looking for a job? This popular directory lets you post (and apply for) jobs with no fees, unlike other freelance sites. The site includes a search engine, so you can quickly find the job you're seeking. Thousands of new jobs are posted here daily.

Vstore Ecommerce Solution

Looking to do business on the Web? This free service lets you easily set up and manage your own custom online storefront, including such features as your own subdomain and shopping cart. Vstore will also host your storefront, for free.

<http://www.vstore.ca/e-commerce-storefront-web-hosting.php>

www.LiveHelpEngine.com

This free service lets you easily set up a live customer support chat system on your Web site. LiveHelpEngine.com also offers a free real-time visitor tracking service that lets you keep tabs on how visitors are using your site.

www.Opportunity247.com

At this site, you can request free information about starting a home-based business via the Web. You must be 18 or older to request this item. (U.S. and Canada only).

www.Facternet.com

At this site, you can get a free, custom, professionally designed logo, suitable for your business, club, Web site, event, etc. The turnaround time here averages 1 to 5 days. Facternet.com also offers free HTML and PSD site templates.

CoSwap.com

Got a Web design project that you need done? This free service lets you post details of your Web project and receive bids from free-lancers from around the world who specialize in site design, Flash, graphics, etc.

Active-Income.com

Looking to make money on the Web? This site reviews and rates various programs that can earn revenue for you, including ad networks, affiliate programs, home business opportunities and more. Revenue programs are available here for Webmasters, as well as a general audience.

The IM4Newbies Forum

Looking to do business on the Web? This lively free forum covers all aspects of marketing on the Net. Topics in this family-friendly, moderated forum range from advertising techniques to online business management. IM4Newbies also offers free ads for members. <http://internetmarketingforums.im4newbies.com>

Laser Printer Cleaning Kit

Refer a friend to this site and complete the short survey to request a free laser printer cleaning kit. (Note: this kit can't be used with inkjet printers). LaserPage is a site that offers support, news and advice aimed at printer users. (U.S. only).

<http://www.laserpage.com/cleankit.htm>

Free tax filing

U.S. taxpayers who are eligible can get free online tax preparation and electronic filing via The Free File Alliance, a public-private partnership. Eligibility is determined by several factors, including your age, income, state of residence, etc.

<http://www.irs.gov/efile/article/0,,id=118986,00.html>

www.FreeRealTime.com

Tired of stale, delayed stock quotes? This free, advertising-supported service gives you real-time quotes that you can retrieve as fast as your connection will allow. All you need to do is register (which is free, too) and abide by the rules. This popular service can be difficult to access during times of peak stock trading. The service may encounter some problems behind firewalls (read their FAQ for solutions).

Free Chat Services

www.321chat.com

Looking for someone to chat with? This popular free chat portal offers moderated chat rooms that are lively 24 hours a day. 321chat.com features chat rooms for seniors, children, adults, teens, and more. The service is easy to use and has loads of features.

UK Chatterbox Chat Rooms

TunesTracker

A must for fans of Apple's iTunes online music store, TunesTracker is a free service that searches the iTunes site daily for your favorite artists and then sends you an E-mail alert when it locates new tunes by those artists. You can also get updates via RSS or the Web. <http://www.tunestracker.com>

www.LottoBot.net

This is a helpful free reminder service if you play the lotto regularly (particularly if you're too busy to have time to check your tickets.) LottoBot will automatically check your lotto tickets for you and send you an immediate E-mail notification of your results for the latest draw. LottoBot sends personal lotto results for all the U.S. state lottos and the biggies like Powerball, Big Game, etc. LottoBot also offers results for games in Australia, Canada, Ireland and New Zealand. <http://www.lottobot.net/>

The Emergency E-mail Network

Sign up with this unique free service to receive notification via E-mail of natural disasters or other emergencies in your area. To get started, select your state and county from the lists provided and follow the instructions. (U.S. only).

<http://www.newsemergency.com>

TVEyes.com

A fascinating free service that sends you an E-mail alert any time a topic or keyword that you specify is mentioned on TV. Many uses: from following the latest news on your fave celebrity to keeping up with anything that's mentioned on the air about your investments. TVEyes.com monitors broadcasts in real time and "watches TV for you when you're not able to." <http://consumer.tveyes.com>

Free E-mail Software

NetMail

A superb freeware E-mail client that offers advanced filtering capabilities to help you organize your E-mail and fight spam. An easy-to-use program, NetMail supports multiple E-mail accounts and is suitable for both home and business use. (For Windows). <http://www.softwarea.com/netmail.htm>

MSGTAG

Have you ever wondered if your E-mail recipients have read your messages yet? An easy-to-use freeware program, MSGTAG alerts you when E-mails you send are opened. MSGTAG works with most E-mail clients, including Outlook, Outlook Express, Eudora and Pegasus Mail. (For (Windows)). <http://www.msgtag.com/home/>

www.MailWasher.net

This handy freeware E-mail management program lets you fight back against spammers and E-mail viruses and helps protect your privacy. MailWasher lets you check and manage your E-mails before you download them. You can also use it to bounce E-mails back to spammers, so that it looks as though your E-mail address is no longer valid. (For Windows).

www.Schmaili.com

Liven up your E-mail correspondence with this fun, freeware program that lets you easily insert an animated smiley face into your messages with a simple mouse click. There are a wide range of nifty-looking smiley face characters to choose from here. (For Microsoft Outlook, Outlook Express, IncrediMail, and Netscape Messenger 7.0).

POP Peeper

Having trouble juggling your different E-mail accounts? This nifty freeware utility runs in your Windows task bar and notifies you when you have new E-mail in any of your POP3, Hotmail, MSN or Yahoo accounts. (For Windows).

<http://www.poppeeper.com>

Outlook Messenger Express

If you're using Microsoft Outlook, then you'll find this freeware utility very helpful. Outlook Messenger Express lets you quickly and easily send a message without going to the hassle of loading the cumbersome Outlook program itself. You can minimize it to the Windows desktop tray when you're not using it, as well. (For Windows).

<http://www.bright.net/~stevensp/ome.html>

Hikyaku Japanese E-mailer

Here's a free E-mail client that is capable of displaying Japanese characters on non-Japanese computers. (For Windows and Macs).

<http://www.cdmatech.com/products/purevoice.jsp>

Pegasus Mail

One of the Net's all-time classic freeware products, Pegasus has a very strong following, and with good reason. It has tons of helpful features, including a spell checker, multiple signatures, checking of multiple mailboxes, etc. However, Pegasus does suffer from a few drawbacks. We find its interface a little clunky and its cut & paste capabilities are limited. If you download Pegasus, then be sure to check out the Guide to Pegasus Mail Add-ons, which is a good collection of enhancement programs for this E-mail client. (Available for Windows and Macs). <http://www.pmail.com>
